Local Agency Nutrition Education Needs Assessment

Overview

Policy	Local agencies applying for the WIC Program must complete a written nutrition education needs assessment and submit action plans with their grant application.
---------------	--

Authors must include a licensed dietitian	At least one of the authors of the needs assessment and WIC action plans must be a licensed dietitian.
--	--

Needs assessment requirements	The nutrition education needs assessment must summarize pertinent data related to the nutrition education needs of WIC participants:
--------------------------------------	--

Action plan requirements

Applicants for WIC funds must submit a minimum of two action plans. The action plans must address:

- Nutrition education and
- Breastfeeding promotion and support.

All action plans must be related to and derived from the nutrition education needs assessment summary. Additional action plans may be requested at the state WIC office's discretion.

Technical Assistance

Technical assistance document

The state WIC office has developed the WIC Nutrition Education Needs Assessment Technical Assistance Tool, to help local agency personnel work through the needs assessment process. This document includes:

- A series of worksheets to help organize data for review and analysis such as
 - Nutrition personnel,
 - Nutrition service delivery and materials,
 - Health indicators,
 - Program participation data,
 - Participant feedback,
 - Nutrition education priorities,
 - Objectives and action plans, and
 - Evaluation.
- National and state health goals and objectives related to the general maternal and child health population and to the low-income maternal and child health population (when appropriate), and
- Statewide data for various health and nutrition indicators.

Note: Use of this document is at the discretion of the WIC Coordinator. When the document is used, WIC Coordinators are strongly encouraged to keep a copy on file for reference throughout the year.
